

Mountain Water Cycle

By: Sam Green

Age: 6

The mountain's where the snow melt comes from.

The snowmelt might trickle into the creeks and the creeks might pour into rivers.

Rivers will flow all the way to the sea.

Evaporation rises up from the creeks and rivers and sea and makes clouds.

And pours back down as rain from the clouds.

Starts the water cycle all over.

The trees make the air so clean, so animals can live and drink the water.

Everything is connected.